"The stranger that sojourneth with you shall be unto you as the home-born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself."

—Lev. 19:34.

"Love watcheth, and sleeping slumbereth not,
Though weary, love is not tired;
Though pressed, it is not straightened;
Though alarmed, it is not confounded:
But as a lively flame and burning torch,
It forces its way upwards, and securely passes through all.
If any man love, he knoweth what is the cry of this voice."

—Thomas a Kempis.

"Outside the gate the Saviour died,
That the way might be free and broad
For the children of men to His wounded side
And His sacrificial blood.
His cross like a far-seen beacon stands
In the midst of a world of sin,
And stretched out are His bleeding hands
To gather the wanderers in."

"A city throned upon the height behold,
Wherein no foot of man as yet has trod;
The City of Man's Life fulfilled in God. . .
Still shine, O, patient city on the height,
The while our race in hut and hovel dwells,
It hears the music of Thy heavenly bells
And its dull soul is haunted by the light.
Lo! once the Son of Man hath heard thy call
And the dear Christ hath claimed Thee for us all."

—Phillips Brooks.
